

ROTARY RIG NOW BEING ERECTED FOR DEEP-TEST

Monitor Petroleum Corporation's drilling contractor got the derrick of their rotary rig set up Tuesday on the Fred Ison lease near Moon in north-east Morgan County, and they expect to start making hole in a few days.

Muddy access roads to the well site has delayed the start of drilling in the deep test. But all the equipment has been brought in from Elliott County and is near the site ready to be assembled and put into operation.

The well is Monitor's second deep-test in this area. The firm's first test, drilled in eastern Elliott on a farm-out agreement with Ashland Oil, Pennzoil and Sun, hit basement at 9,700 feet, and is producing a good flow of oil from the Toms-town section of the Rome at 7,900 feet and giant flow of gas from the St. Peter at 4,600 feet. The gas is shut in awaiting the building of a pipeline.

The Elliott well is on the farm of Cecil Ison at Stevens postoffice on Little Fork in an area where Ashland Pennzoil and Sun each have considerable acreage.

And since coming to Kentucky, Monitor has picked up considerable acreage in the near-by western section of Lawrence County, and has contracted with Curt Thacker, Louisa drilling contractor, to test the acreage.

Meanwhile, all the major companies are interested in the exploratory work of Monitor in the three-county Elliott, Morgan-Lawrence area. And the deep test to be sunk in north-east Morgan is causing unusual speculation. It is within the corner formed by the Irvine-Paint running east and west and the Paint Creek Uplift running north and south, and hopefully, on the curve of the Pre Cambrian Trough coming south from along the Ohio-West Virginia border into East Kentucky and turning west in Morgan going on into Menifee.

The Pre Cambrian has produced some big gas wells in eastern Ohio along the Pennsylvania and West Virginia border.

EDGAR BRADLEY THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters of Dingus and Crockett Precincts—

Words can not express how I appreciate each and every one who voted for me or took any part in my behalf in the race for member of the board of education. I wish I could have done more for our district, but we had to work within the budget, which was limited.

With the county operating in the black this past year, I feel like Mr. Blanton can do twice as much as I did. I feel that he has, and will take an interest in the schools and will work for the interest of Morgan County.

I want to thank all persons in the school system for their courtesy and warm feeling they have shown me through these four years.

Leaf In Two Grades Will Get Low Price

Some local farmers have gotten the impression somewhere that the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture is recommending that farmers put their burley into only two grades. This is an erroneous report, County Agent Douglas Howard said this week.

Tobacco that is marketed in only two grades will be classified as "mixed" and will have only an M grade support price, which is a lower price, the county agent said.

MCHS NETTERS TO OPEN SEASON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, AT GRAYSON

Coach Collinsworth Has Only One Starter Back This Season

The Morgan County High Blue Devil net squad will open its 1970-71 season on Friday, November 20, against Grayson Prichard at Grayson. Though short on experience, this year's team is high in enthusiasm as 39 high school boys reported for practice. Four of the five starters on last year's team have graduated. The lone returning starter is big and talented, 6-6 senior, Jimmy Hill. Other players back who saw limited action last year are: Seniors David May, Tim Keller, and Jimmy Elam.

Also vying for a starting berth on the team are James Wallin, Steve Ratliff, Terry Stacy, Eddie Cottle, Mike Jenkins, Cliff Smith, Mike Blanton, and Jeffrey Brown.

Kenneth Collinsworth and Ava Vest, the coach and assistant coach, are implementing a new system of play. Coach Collinsworth stated that "Though the team as a whole is very inexperienced, I feel confident that the boys have the potential and will improve as the season progresses."

The Blue Devils face a rugged schedule with such opponents as Inez, Dilce Combs, Olive Hill, Johnson Central, Maytown, McDowell, and Wolfe County. The team has also been invited to play in the always-tough Jenny Wiley Tournament.

Following is the complete 1970-71 schedule.

CITIZENS TALK PROBLEMS, NEEDS AT PUBLIC FORUM FOR GATEWAY

Around 40 citizens—including representatives of governmental agencies, civic organizations, veterans, the clergy, etc.—attended a public forum at the courthouse last Thursday evening to sound off on local problems and needs.

During the two-and-a-half-hour meet everyone present had an opportunity to speak his piece, and most did. The list of needs and problems discussed was long. It covered an entire blackboard and topics ranged from weed control along city streets to county-wide problems of a more pressing nature.

However, despite the show of interest, few, if any, of those present seemed to feel that Morgan County would derive much benefit from the proceedings.

They were probably right. The meeting was called by officials of the Gateway Area Development District to gather information for another "overall economic development plan" for the area of which there has been a plentitude during the past few years; also to fulfill a federal regulation that requires citizen participation in area planning before federal funds can be allotted to the development district to carry out its programs.

With a noteworthy exception here and there, it had all been said before — many times in many similar meetings — and since the two-year-old Gateway Development District has no programs operating in Morgan and none on the horizon, the scepticism of some of those present was probably warranted.

Sonny Rose of West Liberty summed up what appeared to be a common, but unspoken consensus when he observed: "We've known for years what our problems are. We've worn out a dozen blackboards just listing them. What we need is the money to do these things with."

Rose suggested that the community would be better served if it dispensed with devising

"overall plans" and tackled one major problem at a time, complete it if possible, then concentrate on another.

Later, the topic turned to education, but local engineer E. V. Tredway covered all the bases when he pointed out that: "Our biggest problem here is: you educate a youngster, then he leaves the county."

Tredway called for a concentrated effort to lure industry to the county to provide jobs. Development of an industrial park and adequate facilities are absolutely essential, he said, if Morgan County is to realize the dream of more jobs and on expanded economy.

MCHS COMEBACK EFFORT FAILS IN LAST ENCOUNTER OF SEASON

Devils Dominate Last Half, But Lose To Flemingsburg, 26-20

Coach Marty Joyce's Morgan High Blue Devils lost their final grid game of the season at Flemingsburg Friday night, 26-20, but not before capturing their share of the glory in a hard-fought game of catch-up football which almost succeeded.

The Blue Devils got into trouble early when they failed to capitalize on two sustained drives in the first period, one of which ended on the Flemingsburg five yard line, the other on the 10-yard line. Flemingsburg fullback George Clark, his team's top ground gainer, compounded the Devils' problems in the second period when he scored from 16 yards out. And later, Flemingsburg scored again on a 22-yard pass play to make the score at the half, Flemingsburg 12, Morgan County 0.

After taking the second half kickoff on their own 15-yard line, the Devils roared 95 yards in eight plays to score their first TD. Halfback Terry Risner got the drive going with a sweep to the Blue Devil 21-yard line and ended it with a 15-yard jaunt into the Flemingsburg end zone. In between time, quarterback Edsel Cline hit Jeffery Brown on a 20-yard pass play and tossed to Risner who chugged to the Flemingsburg 45. On the next play, Risner carried to the Flemingsburg 30 on a power sweep. A 15-yard face guard penalty against Flemingsburg put the ball on the 15-yard line and Risner, in a fine second effort, shook off a levy of tacklers to score the TD on the next play. Cline tossed to Brown in the end zone for a two-point conversion to make the score 12-3.

But the Blue Devils' nemesis was Flemingsburg's hard driving, 210-lb. fullback, George Clark, who during the evening scored three TD's and caught a pass for a two point conversion. On the next series of downs, with Clark doing most of the running, Flemingsburg drove 64 yards in 12 plays and Clark scored his second TD to put his team ahead 18-3.

A pass interception on Morgan's next series of downs set up Flemingsburg's last TD as moments later Clark scored up the middle, then hauled in a pass on the conversion attempt to make the score 26-3.

Though unable to overcome the deficit, the Morgan lads dominated the fourth quarter as quarterback Cline took to the air for big yardage and two TD's.

The Devils' second TD came early in the final period when Cline scored on a keeper from the 4-yard line. This drive covered 73 yards and was highlighted by a 33-yard jaunt by fullback Mike Litteral, who took a screen pass from Cline and drove to the Flemingsburg 54-yard line.

Flemingsburg threatened again, driving to the Blue Devil 27-yard line. But the Devil line dug in, forced a fumble, and recovered the football. Cline immediately shot a pass to Brown, who hauled it in on his own 33 yard line. Mike Litteral took a handoff from Cline and banged his way to the 45-yard line. Cline then shot a pass to Risner who carried to the Flemingsburg 40, and one play later Cline nailed Risner with another pass and the workhorse halfback drove to the 12-yard line to set up the Devils' final TD which came on the next play when Cline scored on a keeper.

With only two minutes to play, the Devils attempted an onside kick, but the ball went out of bounds and Flemingsburg ran out the clock to end their season with a 7-4 record. It was the Devils' sixth loss, against five wins.

Bids To Be Opened Dec. 10 By Morgan Co. Fiscal Court

The Morgan County Fiscal Court was authorized Friday to advertise for bids for the construction of the long-awaited West Liberty area hospital. The advertisement for bids appears elsewhere in this edition.

County Judge Gene Allen said he received the go-ahead to advertise for bids from Donald B. Shelton, Architect, Lexington, the firm which prepared engineering plans for the 50-bed facility.

Authorization to advertise for bids means plans for the hospital have received final approval of state and federal health officials and federal funding agencies.

Sealed bids for construction of the hospital are now being received by the Morgan Fiscal Court and bids will be opened Thursday, Dec. 10. Estimated cost of the two-story hospital is just under $1.5 million.

Construction costs will be financed with a $591,667 Hill-Burton grant from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, a $464,000 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission, and a $425,000 local bond issue approved by voters in 1969.

Judge Allen said that weather permitting, construction of the hospital on a previously-purchased site on Wells Hill may begin within two months.

The area hospital will serve Morgan, Elliott, Wolfe, Menifee, Rowan, and Magoffin Counties and will have 20 beds for care of acutely ill patients and 30 beds for extended care of convalescing patients.

Appalachian Regional Hospitals Inc., which operates a chain of hospitals in three states is expected to receive a contract to operate the facility.

Bonds to finance the local share of construction costs are currently being prepared for sale and will be sold after a construction contract is awarded, Judge Allen said.

The UK School of Dentistry team, coached by Dr. Charles Ellinger, features many ex-UK stars as well as players who formerly starred at other universities.

A pre-game ticket sale is now in progress with student tickets being sold at each school in the county. Advance student tickets are 50 cents and will be sold for 75 cents at the gate.

Adult tickets may be purchased in advance for $1.00 from any Booster Club member or from one of the following merchants: Riverside Motor Co., Morgan Loan Co., Commercial Bank, Elam Utility, and Elam Rexall Drug. Adult tickets will cost $1.50 at the gate.

Game time will be 8 p.m. with a preliminary game between Morgan County seventh and eighth graders and seventh and eighth graders from Wolfe County High School.

HOLLIDAY By Harrison Holliday

Nov. 2 — Sorry to hear of the passing of Preston Lacy of Cannel City. He used to serve as our Sheriff and he helped to bring law to our community. I wish to extend my deepest sympathy to the entire family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Holliday of Goshen, Ohio were visiting his wife's mother at West Liberty and came on over to see us for a very short visit. He informed me that Rev. Pierce Steele of Pleasant Plain, Ohio has been in the hospital for awhile. We wish him a speedy recovery. The last time he wrote me he was having trouble breathing at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holliday, and son, Kevin, of Maineville, Ohio gave us a visit Saturday. We all went to West Liberty shopping. We looked over some 1970 and 1971 cars, and on our way visited the Bailey Market at Greer. They went home Sunday but we enjoyed their short visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Littler of West Liberty were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Lacy. We went down and had a chat with them. He married my niece, Hazel Jones.

THE HEARTLAND OF KENTUCKY AS A NATIONAL RECREATION AREA

In proposing a 35-county national recreation area for the mid part of central and eastern Kentucky, Gov. Nunn said, "the natural and man-made beauty of the land and the opportunity for recreation of all kinds, adds up to an endless variety of things to do and see. Nature endowed the area with such advantages that it was prized by the Indians as a vacation ground even during their day."

He was speaking of the heartland of Kentucky—the area that comprises the rich Bluegrass, the outer rim of Foothills counties and Cumberland Falls area in the Mountains—truly the variety that is Kentucky, the variety that gives Kentucky universal appeal.

In addition to the prime Bluegrass, the area extends eastward to include Breathitt, Magoffin, Wolfe, Morgan and Elliott Counties, and the Boone National Forest and the unmatched natural beauty of the Red River Valley and the natural bridge and knobs counties. It encompasses parts of the state's great rivers—the Kentucky, the Licking, and the Cumberland, also the rugged Rockcastle and the Red. And westward, it includes Boyle and the state's first capital city, Danville. Also the Commonwealth's first settlements, Harrodsburg and Boonesborough.

Surely, it is an area that offers national appeal, for history was made here, and its scenic beauty is delightful. Its variety of accommodations can please the most discriminating visitor.

We hail the proposal as both pleasing and practicable, and urge the U. S. Senate to adopt the proposal.

OBSERVATIONS • AND • PREDICTIONS

TAFT WINS OHIO — Though Democrats won the governorship of Ohio, Republican Robert Taft, Jr. nosed out Democrat contender C. E. Metzger for U. S. Senator in Ohio. He is the son of the late Senator Robert A. Taft and grandson of former President William Howard Taft, names that spell magic in Ohio.

MT. STERLING PLANTS — The once staid old farming center of Mt. Sterling has become an industrial center with six manufacturing plants. Heads of the six firms, Cowdens, Bluegrass Industries, Hobart Manufacturing, Mt. Sterling Industries, A. O. Smith, and Trojan, met last week and formed the Bluegrass Association of Manufacturing Managers and elected Dick Keenan president. Its purpose is to facilitate social contacts and provide understanding of common interests between the factories.

JILLI. WINS — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will be returning to the U. S. Senate in January, after an impressive win over the Republicans in Minnesota. Asked about the nomination for President in 1972, Humphrey said, "I'd take it. But my role now is to keep the party in competitive harmony in moving together to convention time."

DEMOCRATS TAKE TEXAS — Texas sent Democrat Lloyd Benson to the Senate to replace a Republican, kept Democrat Gov. Preston Smith, and voted to allow liquor by the drink.

IMPOSTERS Fleece Elderly — Lawrence County Attorney Gene A. Wilson issued a warning last week against imposters fleeing elderly people in the county. He said the robbers impersonated welfare workers in some instances, and agents of the Kentucky Power Company and surveyors for a gas pipeline in other instances. Those impersonating welfare workers go to the elderly on the pretext that the recipient of old age assistance is being considered for an increase in benefits but first must have a physical exam—and while the victim is disrobing the thieves burglarize the home. Those impersonating pipeline surveyors say they are surveying for a pipeline but first want to determine if the resident is allergic to natural gas, and in their meanderings in the home manage to steal valuables.

DEMOCRATS ARE — Frank Stubbsfield 1st. Dist.; Wm. H. Natcher, 2nd Dist.; John C. Watts, 6th Dist.; Carl Perkins, 7th Dist.; and Mazzoli 3rd.

REPUBLICANS ARE — Gene Snyder, 4th Dist., and Tim Lee Carter, 5th Dist.

BYRD FLIES HIGH IN W.VA. — Ultra-conservative Democrat Senator Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia made political history in our neighboring state by carrying every county in the Mountain State, winning 343,159 to 99,244. He has been an outspoken critic of campus and street riots and has supported the administration's Vietnam policy. Southern West Virginia's popular Democrat Congressman Ken Hechler won reelection by a 2-to-1 majority. He is a liberal Democrat.

MORGAN SCION NAMED — Successful Achievement, Inc., a Lexington, Ky. publishing firm, has announced the appointment of Dr. Jec E. Carter, Jr., of Louisville, as a member of its advisory board. The firm specializes in printing self-improvement, inspirational and motivational books and study programs. Dr. Carter, a Louisville dentist, is the son of Joe E. Carter, Louisville physician who is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Asa Carter of Morgan County. The younger Carter is president of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Louisville, and co-owner with his father of the Riverview Hospital in Louisville.

OWSLEY COUNTY voters last Tuesday refused for the fourth time to approve a bond issue for construction of a new courthouse to replace one destroyed by fire in 1966. The proposed $150,000 bond issue received 747 favorable votes and 453 opposing votes—less than the two-thirds majority required for passage.

GOV. LOUIE B. NUNN allotted $250,000 from his contingency fund to match federal money for a $30-a-month increase in payments to public-assistance recipients living in personal-care homes. The increase is effective December 1. Starting January 1 Medicaid payments will cover a patient's full costs for the duration of his stay in nursing homes. Medicaid now pays full costs for only 180 days, then $7.50 per day for the rest of the stay.

KENTUCKY CONSERVATION COUNCIL has recommended an increase in strip-mining fees to help eliminate irresponsible operators. The council, representing 19 state conservation organizations and about 50 individuals, also advised that the State Strip-Mine and Reclamation Division be given some revenue from the general fund to reduce its dependence on coal operators' permit fees.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT November 20 will open bids for three controversial road projects in Floyd County, third such attempt to let contracts on the work. First bids on the work, which consists of 4.8 miles of reconstruction of US 23-460, were opened last June and resulted in filing of a $4 million lawsuit in Franklin Circuit Court. The lawsuit was filed by J. D. Barter Construction Co., Harrodsburg, Ill., and Mattingly Bridge Co., charging a conspiracy on the part of several other construction companies and officials. The second set of bids were rejected after federal highway officials said there was a lack of competition.

FUEL-LESS AUTO ENGINE — A Kentucky retired veteran, John Gullett of Henry County, has the industrial world agape with a new auto motor he says emits no fumes and requires no fuel except a battery to start it—then it runs on its own power by using the natural forces of gravitation and electromagnetism. He says he commenced his experiments where "Einstein left off in the unknown field of gravity as a source of power."

The Mega Power Corporation of Penfield, N. Y., which has been experimenting along the same line, sent one of its reputable young scientists, Van Combs, to work with the Kentucky inventor. He stayed three months, and accompanied Gullett on a 595-mile drive in his experimental auto "at zero cost." "I was with him long enough until I have faith in him," said the New York scientist. "He can do things from a practical point of view that defy present scientific evidence. I am convinced that he must have something, but some day he is going to have to demonstrate." Gullett told the Courier-Journal he has been offered several million dollars for the motor but from men representing some auto makers he thinks would "throw the engine in the ocean just so they can protect the big oil people." Gullett said he has been shot at and his shop has been broken into, also that he gets threatening phone calls about blowing up his shop. Gullett says he will only reveal his secret to a firm that will build the engines—"and I want them to have the factory in Kentucky," he added. Kyle Vance of the C-J saw the engine. He says it weighs only a fourth as much as a conventional gasoline engine, and that it is powered, apparently, by Gullett's own design of coils and a generator, and uses a battery for the sole purpose of activating the motor. Gullett says engines like it can be made to power any type machinery from a refrigerator to giant airplanes or submarines. Einstein worked out the Law of Relativity, the United Field Laws and Electromagnetism, all of which led to the atomic bomb, television and photoelectric cells. Mass. Einstein found, is composed of energy transmuted through the law of matter; and he found also that all energy and mass are interrelated, and worked out part of the laws governing the transmutation of energy into mass and mass into energy.

POLLUTED AIR

Polluted air serves many purposes as well as pure air does,
for example, it is used as transmission of power in operating tools for ripping up newly paved streets; it makes possible
the use of suction pumps; it is used to inflate tires, and it keeps our bodies from exploding.

GOVERNOR TAKES FIGHT AGAINST
DRUG ABUSE ALL ACROSS STATE'Revival Air' Marks Nunn's Speech For
East Ky. Audience

BY DAVID MCGUIRE

ASHLAND — Like an evangelist but grim and determined, Gov. Louie B. Nunn Thursday enlisted grass-roots support of all the faithful in his crusade against drug abuse.
"An ounce of prevention is worth a ton of marijuana," Gov. Nunn said in literally preaching for a massive education project on the part of all Kentuckians as he appeared on the second day of an aerial revival to 10 cities that ended late Thursday in Louisville where it began the day before.

"We do not have the capacity either in state government or among the local governments to handle this problem that's actually an epidemic sweeping across the state."

"The people have to solve it because the problem's not under the Capitol dome or under the mayor's desk. The problem's among you, all of you," he said.

Gov. Nunn again and again
used religious overtones, citing erosion of the moral fiber, loss of souls and destruction of the body.

"Throwing aside his political mantle, he pleaded with as many citizens as possible from all walks of life to attend a state-wide drug information seminar in Louisville's Convention Center at 10 a.m. on Dec. 3.

Specific lines were directed to teachers, parents, clergymen of all creeds, students, the mass media, and civic groups to throw their full support behind the program.

"We're going to go out in Kentucky and we're going to do something. God willing, I think we'll be successful in this and I think it'll cross the Ohio River into out neighboring states and across the Mississippi (river) into Missouri and across the state line into Tennessee and into all the other states bordering Kentucky. We want them to know that Kentuckians have the moral conviction that this is self-destruction and simply isn't going to happen without us doing something about it,"
the governor said.

He forewarned persons who wish to be involved that they must persevere since the enemy works from within.

Parents were encouraged to become familiar with drug abuse and to establish a dialogue between themselves and their children so the problem can be nipped in the bud before it blooms, causing heartbreak and sorrow.

He encouraged young people who have friends to learn how they can help them and to go to their parents or to governmental agencies that will meet the problem "Kids think they're hurting a friend
if they 'turn the dime in on him' he said referring to the addicts' terminology for squealing. "Well, they're not 'turning the dime,' they're helping their friends," he said.

Gov. Nunn also expressed some concern because in state government four Kentucky departments—Education, Health,
Mental, Health and Public Safety—are involved in fighting drug abuse. A concerted effort with improved coordination is needed, he said, but Kentuckians must remember that government alone will never handle the drug abuse problem because of its massiveness.

Gov. Nunn discounted during a question-answer session
the notion that individual feelings about American involvement in Vietnam gives rise to drug abuse. "There are excuses and there are excuses."
Regardless of that, there is the problem and that's the important point," he replied.

Stiffer sentences by jurors
where a pusher or middleman or supplier is involved were urged vigorously by Gov.
Nunn.

He cited rock festivals as a beachhead to attack what is occurring when young people attend them. Ninety per cent of persons in attendance use marijuana or LSD, he said
quoting national statistics.

ONE OF 10 SPEECHES

The Ashland speech against drugs was one of ten the Governor made across Kentucky
last week. Public officials, ministers and health workers
from 25 East Kentucky counties attended. Attending from Morgan were—Miss Mary Ann
Foudray, Home Economist;
Mrs. Della W. Kinner, County
Health Nurse, and Mrs. Naomi Finch, School Health Nurse.

FORUM...

insufficient finances with which to solve the problems, Tredway introduced an interesting concept calling for a loosening of cost-share requirements by federal funding agencies in certain instances.

"Some leeway should be allowed," he said, "in allotting of federal grants for communities which have never before received a federal grant." He pointed out that the City of West Liberty in years past had constructed a water supply system and a sanitary sewer system on its own, without federal aid.

"Both projects were paid for locally through the sale of bonds," he pointed out. As a result, most of the city's receipts must now be set aside to pay off the bonds, he said.
"and we can't raise local matching money needed to secure federal grants."

He challenged the development district officials to press
for such innovation.

Asked to choose 10 of the county's most urgent needs, the group picked the following—

1. A modern highway to connect West Liberty with I-64
and the Mountain Parkway.

2. A community center at West Liberty to provide supervised activities for the elderly and for the youth of the county.

3. Fire protection throughout the county.

4. Low rent housing for low-income families and the elderly.

5. An improved school system, with home emphasis on vocational education.

6. Raising the recreational water level of Cave Run Dam
to reach West Liberty.

7. Modernizing of West Lib-erty's water system and expansion of the town's sewer system.

8. Development of an industrial park.

9. Jobs for the underemploy-ed.

10. Development of sanitary landfills for garbage disposal.
Other ideas and needs discussed included a cannery and a cooperative to market agricultural products; need for a severance tax on minerals as a method of obtaining revenue
for education and other needs;
progress to help farmers; need for sidewalks along West Liberty streets, and many others.

James Cass, regional planner
for the Gateway District, said Morgan was the last of the district's five counties to hold a public forum, so presumably the district is now eligible to receive federal grants and loans
to carry out development programs.

Cass said the development
district presently has programs operating in its other counties and "We want to get some programs started in this county." He did not elaborate.

One of Gateway's plans to develop area economy has been to designate West Liberty as a "satellite town" to feed business into two "growth centers," Morehead and Mt. Sterling.

Other counties in the Gateway Area are Montgomery,
Rowan, Bath, and Menifee.

Sponsored by about 28 Campton and Wolfe County organizations, the center will provide a place for meetings, health care, display of arts and crafts and other civic activities.

BOTH PARTIES WIN—GOP IN SENATE, DEMS IN HOUSE AND GOVERNORSHIPS

Both Democrats and Republicans made gains in the Nov. 3 election — Democrats in the House and governorships, and Republicans in the Senate.

Republicans made a net gain of two U. S. Senators, and Democrats gained 10 extra seats in the House and picked up 12 new governor.

Stanley Howard, 60, of Rowan County and a former member of the labor union has been charged with the crime and is in the Rowan County Jail.

Messer died of a head wound inflicted by a .22 caliber rifle, according to authorities.

HEARTLAND OF KENTUCKY PICKED FOR NATIONAL RECREATION AREA — Gov. Louie B. Nunn told the Natural Bridge Park Association Friday he was proposing a 32-county area in Central and Eastern Kentucky for designation by the U. S. Senate as a National Recreation Area. The Department of Interior already has proposed 14 such areas in the nation. The counties to be contained in the proposed recreation area are shown in this map. They include the prime Bluegrass counties of Central Kentucky, the Knobs and Foothills counties of Eastern Kentucky as far east as Magoffin, Morgan and Elliott, and a few mountain counties as far south as Laurel. In the area are countless places of historic interest and both bluegrass scenery and foothills and mountain scenery.

"WILDFLOWERS IN KENTUCKY," IS NEW BOOK BY SHACKLEFORD AT 50c

Nevele Shackleford, University of Kentucky College of Agriculture's writer in residence in Eastern Kentucky, has authored one of the most informative, entertaining and just plain readable contributions to Kentucky literature. His new book, "Wildflowers of Kentucky," has just been published by the College of Agriculture Cooperative Extension Service. It contains descriptions of wildflowers found in Kentucky, but is not meant to be a textbook. In fact, the real value and beauty of the book lies in Shackleford's tales of the folklore and legend behind each of the wildflowers.

The reader doesn't have to be particularly knowledgeable about wildflowers to enjoy the romance and tales Shackleford relates throughout the book. This popular Eastern Kentucky writer has the ability to include in his descriptions something of interest to everyone.

Why would one want to learn about wildflowers? Shackleford answers that questions in the foreword to his book when he says "... the joys of life and living are enhanced by a knowledge of what we see."

And this little book, available for 50 cents, is sure to

GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES PROPOSAL FOR NATIONAL RECREATION AREA

35 Counties Would Include Elliott, Morgan and Wolfe

SLADE, Ky. — Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced a proposal Friday to have 35 east-central counties in Kentucky proclaimed a national recreation area.

He told the Natural Bridge Association at Natural Bridge State Park that the proposal would be submitted to the U. S. Senate on Monday by state Natural Resources Commissioner James Shropshire.

The outer rim of the area would be comprised of Owen, Franklin, Anderson, Mercer, Boyle, Lincoln, Rockcastle, Laurel, Jackson, Owsley, Breathitt, Magoffin, Morgan, Elliott, Rowan, Fleming, Nicholas, and Harrison counties.

Nunn noted that the Daniel Boone National Forest traverses the area from north and south and it encompasses "both the foothills and the famed Kentucky Bluegrass."

Nature endowed the area with such advantages that "It was prized by the Indians as a vacation ground even during their days," Nunn said.

"The conquest of the wilderness comprises one of the most colorful and significant periods in American history," Nunn said, "a history that was made here and is still marked all through these 35 counties, from pre-Revolutionary times, pioneer days and the days of Lincoln and the Civil War itself almost down to the very present.

"These historical places, the natural and man-made beauty of the land, the opportunities for recreation of all kinds, add up to an endless variety of things to do and see."

Nunn also noted that U. S. Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel already has proposed 14 national recreation areas, "all of which are closer to so-called mass centers of population than ours." The areas are to be designated by the Senate.

OBITUARY

MAE ROSE CECIL

On Dec. 9, 1888, at Lee City, in Wolfe County, Ky., a baby girl arrived at the home of James Buchanan and Julia Ann Wells Rose, who was named Julia Mae. She was the sixth member of a family of 11 children, five sisters and five brothers, of which all except one brother, Bee Rose, have preceded her in death.

She was united in marriage to Charley Frazier Cecil on November 18, 1908. To this union were born six children, two daughters: Gladys Nickell of Mize, and Imogene Pieratt, of Verona, Ohio; four sons: Wilmer and J. W. of West Liberty, Charles of Mize, (with whom she made her home), and Woodford, of Huntington, W. Va., all of whom survive her, plus 13 grandchildren, one great-granddaughter, one brother and a host of other relatives and friends.

She accepted Jesus Christ as her Saviour at an early age, and joined the Christian Church at Old Grassy on Sept. 7, 1908. She had been a faithful member until her death.

Mrs. Cecil's love for her church was expressed in her conversation with relatives and friends. The ministry and support of the church was of great concern to her. When Mrs. Cecil would return to church from a confined illness, she would sit down in her favorite pew and saw (loudly enough for those around her to hear) "Thank the Good Lord! I am able to come back to church."

Her concern was not only for the church but for all her family and neighbors. She would use the telephone to convey her sympathy or real interest to those sick or troubled in any way.

Mrs. Cecil's children were her pride and joy. Not just because they were hers by birthright but because they were Christians and leaders in their respective churches.

Mrs. Cecil enjoyed attending her Sunday school class and took part in Bible discussion and witnessing to the saving grace of her Lord.

Census Bureau Will Conduct Employment Survey Here Nov. 15

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of November 15. Joseph R. Norwood, Director of the Bureau's regional office in Charlotte, N. C. announced.

In addition to the regular questions on employment asked each month, this survey will again collect information about supplemental or part-time jobs and the number of hours devoted to them.

The Bureau will also ask whether each person included in the sample voted in the November election or had been registered to vote. Similar questions were asked in November 1968, 1966, and 1964.

The households to be interviewed here are part of a scientifically designed sample that is representative of the entire U. S. population. The employment and unemployment statistics are collected monthly by the Bureau for the U. S. YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY—DECEMBER 31 IS DEADLINE FOR SOME MEDICARE CLAIMS

December 31, 1970, is the deadline for filing Medicare medical insurance claims for services received October 1, 1968, through September 30, 1969, according to Thomas B. Thompson, social security district manager in Ashland.

"Under the law, Medicare can pay your medical insurance claim only within a certain time after treatment or other service. If you have Medicare medical insurance and received covered services during the period of October 1, 1968, through September 30, 1969, claims must be filed before the end of this year," Thompson said. "After December 31, 1970, Medicare cannot pay on these bills."

Thompson said that a completed "Request for Medicare Payment" form should be sent to Medicare, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, 1218 Harrodsburg Road, Lexington, Kentucky 40504. If the doctor or supplier does not complete his portion of the form (Part II), an itemized bill must accompany the "Request for Medicare Payment." Either the itemized bill, or Part II of the claim form must show the date, place, and description of each service and the charge for each service.

Thompson said that anyone needing claim forms for Medicare medical insurance or related information should call the Ashland social security office. The telephone number is 325-7666.

Medicare medical insurance is the voluntary part of Medicare. It is available to almost everyone 65 or older and helps pay for doctors' services and certain other health care services. Financed by individual premiums and matching Government funds, it pays 80 percent of reasonable charges above the $50 annual deductible for covered medical services.

CHRYSANTHEMUM — GOLDEN FLOWER OF LEGENDBy Nevyle Shackelford
Staff Writer, UK College of Agriculture

QUICKSAND, Ky.—When the "melancholy days" of autumn have come and all other flowers have succumbed to the ravages of frost, that hardy golden flower of ancient Oriental legend, the chrysanthemum, still persists in varied hues to grace the earth with its beauty.

This is particularly true at Robinson Substation here where each year, UK horticulturist, Robert L. Shepherd, supervises production of many varieties of this lovely fall-blooming flower.

Attached to the chrysanthemum, which has become a symbol of perfection, is a delightful old Oriental folk tale that adds to its interest. As the legend goes, just outside a little village in Persia, there once lived an old sage to whom, when problems arose, everyone went for advice.

But one day when a group of troubled villagers went to see the old man, they found him gone. On a table in his hut, however, they found a bowl of seed and a note which read: "Wisdom is a glorious thing; perfection a joy to behold."

Somewhat mystified by the note and the disappearance of their friend and counselor, the villagers took the seed back to their homes and planted them. Next autumn hundreds of bright flowers resulted from the seeds—flowers with golden petals numerous as the bits of wisdom that had been dispensed by the old sage. Noting also that the symmetry of the flower was a picture of perfection, the villagers then realized the meaning of the note.

The name, "chrysanthemum," comes from the Greek and means "golden flower." It is a member of the Composite family of plants, probably originated in China, and is the national flower and imperial emblem of Japan where it is said that each October a festival is held in its honor.

This public holiday is marked by magnificent flower shows and a Feast of Chrysanthemums called "kiku-no-sakku." At this feast the gift of a long life is supposedly conferred upon all by sprinkling chrysanthemum leaves upon the tables where the food is served.

As the experimental plantings at Robinson Substation reveal, chrysanthemums come in great variations of shape, size, color, and texture. They are flowers that love the sun and do best when planted in the sun. No homestead should be without a bed or two of late-blooming chrysanthemums. They help brighten the gray days of autumn long after a wild-blooming cousin, the Farewell Summer, has faded from the landscape.
